

Stories from the Road – extension task

The Pole of Cold team has been broadcasting a series of messages using a system called iPadio while on the road.

They are collected and available to listen to here:

<http://www.ipadio.com/broadcasts/PoleofCold/>

Challenge students to create a Podcast using a piece of software or app that they have access to, in the same style, which captures one of the problems that the team might come across as they move into the coldest areas of the journey, or explains why Siberia is so cold.
