Dear journalist

Re: New India article

We would like to commission you to write an article called 'New India' for our Sunday magazine. It has to be two pages long, and include a map and colour images.

As you know, India is changing at a rapid pace. It is becoming a major global power. Millions of people in the UK are eating Indian food, watching Bollywood movies, phoning call centres in Bangalore and Delhi for computer help, train-times and so on. Yet as well as India's wealth we still see pictures of poverty on our TVs.

We need you to investigate what's happening on the ground. We want you to visit the country, talk to the people, and track down what's really going on.

We will cover the cost of ten days work, plus a return flight to Bangalore in southern India. We chose Bangalore because this is India's fastest growing city, and it's where 40% of the IT industry is based.

Please let us know when you are available.

Regards
